During the extensive evaluation process, over 300 organizations participated in the survey with over 100 submitting completed surveys to be considered for this recognition, including companies large and small, government agencies and departments, and nonprofit groups. VETS Indexes recognizes selected employers with one of the following four award levels: VETS Indexes 5 Star Employer, VETS Indexes 4 Star Employer, VETS Indexes 3 Star Employer, VETS Indexes Recognized Employer. Not all organizations that completed a survey received an award.

The formal announcement to all recipients of the inaugural VETS Indexes Employer Awards took place during a complimentary virtual event on Thursday, May 20th. Winners received an award, news release, and logo that they can use for advertising, marketing, and recruiting, completely free of charge.

During the May 20th virtual event, VETS Indexes also unveiled an exciting new program that will enable employers to benchmark their veteran employment efforts against those of other organizations. This in-depth review will provide granular detail showing where each organization leads the way, and where there may be room for improvement.
